£2m insurance claim car passenger could face jail

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

A PASSENGER in a death crash who claimed more than £2m in compensation is facing a High Court bid to have him jailed.

Michael Richards was a passenger in a car which crashed at high speed into a house in Melfort Drive, Milton Keynes, in the early hours of August 21, 2004.

The accident cost the lives of driver, Anthony Bannis, 21, of Rimsdale Court, Bletchley, and 18-year-old model, Natalie Blackburn, of Moorfoot, Fullers Slade.

In the wake of the accident, Mr Richards put in a claim against the Motor Insurers Bureau (MIB) – the industry body that compensates victims of uninsured drivers – for more than £2,260,000, claiming to have been left severely injured and disabled.

But now the MIB has lodged a High Court application to have Mr Richards put behind bars for alleged contempt of court.

In papers lodged in court by the MIB's legal team, QC, William Featherby, claims that Mr Richards in fact made 'an early, rapid and fully functional recovery' from his crash injuries and 'any residual symptoms were minor'.

The documents state that Mr Richards agreed to drop his damages claim in February this year after being confronted by 'visual recordings' covertly shot by private investigators.

In a preliminary hearing last Thursday at which Mr Richards was neither present, nor represented, Mr Justice Tugendhat, directed a full hearing of the MIB's application to have him jailed by a two-judge court as soon as possible.

Mr Featherby said Mr Richards had been personally served with documents in the case, but the MIB had so far had no contact with him.

No date has been set for the hearing.

During the 2005 inquest into the death of Natalie Blackburn, consultant pathologist at MK Hospital, Dr Sam Jalloh, told the court that the alcohol in Bannis' system was 106mg in 100ml of blood the legal limit is 80.

The two other passengers, Aaron Long and Michael Richards, survived but it was said Mr Richards had not fully recovered, and was too sick to attend the hearing.

Police told the hearing how Bannis had no insurance and didn't own the car, and their attempts to find the owner had failed. The iquest also heard that the car had left the city centre without its lights switched-on and Natalie's friend, Stephanie Louise Harris, who also had a lift in the car but was dropped off before the smash, told the inquest: "He (Bannis) was driving like a maniac."

City poor may get cost-cutting cards

A CONCESSIONS card could soon be available to help those on low incomes or benefits pay for council services.

Councillors are currently looking at ways to help the city's most financially vulnerable people survive the worst of the Government cuts and rises in public service charges.

This includes the potential introduction of a card that would enable those eligible to get reduced charges.

Cllr Sam Crooks, in charge of finance and resources for the council, said: "We have to look across the council and find out what our current concessions are, and then we want to explore whether there's a way of having a physical concessions card.

"If we do that we have to find a way of keeping it updated.

"We need to work out the detail. This is such an important new venture, we have to take advice from various associations that have these already."

He said that if the inititive is eventually given the go ahead, the card could be available as early March 31 2011, in time for the new financial year.

Concessions are being considered for those on income support, including Pensions Credit, Guarantee Credit, Jobseeker's Allowance and Employment and Support Allowance.

Cllr Crooks added: "It's not yet decided but that's what we're working towards. We will inevitably be putting up charges for things. I'm very conscious that there will be many people who have very low or no incomes and they're going to suffer the cuts too.

"We will be putting up charges across the board but we're working very hard to have in place a concession card for those on benefits or with low incomes to get reduced charges without losing council services, so the council doesn't price itself out of providing these."

MP Lancaster calls for review of Internet privacy regulations

A REVIEW of Internet regulations has been called for after the whereabouts of a women's refuge was revealed by Google.

MP Mark Lancaster was speaking in a debate on Thursday on Internet privacy when he mentioned the refuge, whose anonymity is crucial to the safety of its residents.

However, when the search engine set about mapping the entire country with street-level photographs for its Street View facility, the hostel's picture and location were displayed online.

Even when the organisation requested to have it removed, Google did not respond.

Mr Lancaster explained the incident to fellow MPs in Westminster Hall, saying: "It is staggering that the privacy of an organisation whose purpose it is to protect others is allowed to be invaded in that way."

This was not the first time there has been an issue with Google in Milton Keynes, he told colleagues.

In April 2009, residents of Broughton Village challenged a Street View driver as he attempted to take photographs of their homes.

Rather that leaving Broughton off the map, residents were told they would have to apply to have the images removed once public, something Mr Lancaster called "simply unacceptable".

Addressing his colleagues, he added: "I acknowledge that a legislative approach would have consequences for freedom of information, but does the minister accept that, following the situations that occurred in my constituency, and Google's reluctance to do anything about them, the time has perhaps come for, at the very least, a review?"

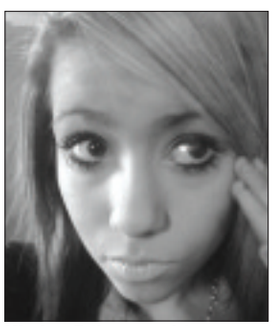
A Google spokesman said the company was not aware of this particular issue, though it had worked with Mr Lancaster in the past and was happy to do so again.

He said: "We're not aware of this particular case but anyone can request an image for removal using our simple 'report a problem' tool in Street View. When they do we remove the image quickly. We have removed sensitive locations in the past from Street View and are happy to do so."

■ Anyone wanting an image removed from Google Street View should find the image, click on 'report a problem' at the bottom of the page, and fill out the form.

Google fell foul of Broughton Village residents angered by its Street View mapping

Girl, 15, missing since early October



Missing: Tatiana, aged 15

THIS is the photo of a missing girl from the city which police hope the public will be able to use to help trace her.

Tatiana, 15, was last seen at the Zen Garden restaurant, Midsummer Boulevard, on Saturday, October 2 at about 8pm and she has not been in telephone contact with anyone since October 10.

Tatiana left home without any of her belongings and does not have any access to money. Concerns are growing as it has been such a long time since she made contact.

Tatiana is white, 5ft 2ins with shoulder-length black hair. She was last seen wearing leopard skin leggings, a skin-coloured vest top and a black leather jacket. If you have any information about Tatiana's whereabouts or if you have seen her since she went missing, contact Milton Keynes police station on 0845 8 505 505, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

You can also give information to the police in person by visiting any police station.

F1 ace Hamilton breaks Daytona track record

RACING driver Lewis Hamilton visited Daytona Racetrack last weekend and set a new track record.

Hamilton completed a lap in just 74.196 seconds, and spent the rest of the day teaching 100 Vodafone VIP customers how to get the most out of kart racing.

There was also a Q&A session with the Formula One ace.

Commenting on his performance, Hamilton said: "The world title is still very, very much open. I am 21 points behind but Mark Webber lost 18 points to me but he lost 25 points to Fernando in the last race so it just goes to show there are still two races.

"I was leading the world championship by 17 points with two races to go and I lost the world championship so it is possible.

"We don't have the fastest car, that's a fact. But we have, if anything, the most determined and ambitious team that I have ever known so I think we stand a very good chance."

Cops put trust in unpaid 'specials'

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

THAMES Valley Police is to recruit an extra 250 unpaid volunteer officers, but has denied it is linked to budget cuts.

The news comes after the recent announcement that the Home Office, which funds the police service, faces cuts of 25 per cent.

A spokesman for Thames Valley Police said: "We have been increasing the number of 'specials' in Thames Valley for the last three years and are now aiming to increase the number to 700. During that time we have been increasing regular officer numbers.

"Specials are not a replacement for regular officers. They support and complement regular officers, working with our neighbourhood teams, providing a flexible resource to help us police major events in the Thames Valley and also help to provide a visible presence in towns and cities at busy times. They may also support our reactive teams by attending jobs alongside regular officers or experienced Special Constables.

"They work a minimum of 18 hours a month and many use it to improve their skills, support their community or see if a job as a full time officer would be suitable for them.

"Many people equate their role to that played by the territorial army, which play a similar role in supporting the British army."

Chief Constable Sara Thornton, said: "I have always felt that a cut of more than 10 per cent in police budgets will be very difficult and could lead to noticeable reductions in service. The Comprehensive Spending Review has now announced a 16 per cent total cut over the next four years, and Thames Valley Police has already been carrying out work looking at how we will cope.

"Thames Valley Police, along with other police forces, won't find out our actual central police grant for the coming years until December, so I am unable to speculate on how many roles may go and whether there will be any redundancies or cuts to front line services at this stage.

"By ensuring we are already prepared to make large budget cuts while trying to ensure front-line services are not affected, I feel Thames Valley Police is ready to face the challenges over the coming months and years."

Special Constables are part-time volunteer officers, with the same powers as paid police, but do not receive the same level of training.

Waste muncher gets green light

CONTROVERSIAL plans for a recycling facility for the city's organic waste have been given the green light.

The treatment facility, or anaerobic digester, will take all of Milton Keynes' food and garden waste and break it down to collect methane and other gases, which can be used for energy production or pumped back into the local gas supplies.

Any remaining solid waste can then be used as fertiliser.

But as previously reported by MK NEWS, not everyone is happy with the location.

The 9,840 square metre plant, a joint project between The Parks Trust and Renewable Power Systems Ltd, will be built next to the current sewage works at Pineham in the east of the city, near Brook Furlong.

Objectors claim this is too close to some of the new-build estates in Broughton.

Councillor John Bint said the decision may be open to a judicial review if the council goes ahead with the build.

He said: "I'm not opposed to it in principle, but it's now going to full council to hear my concerns about the gaps in information... if decision stands, I believe they will be open to a judicial review."

David Foster, chief executive of The Parks Trust, says the plant is far enough away from the nearest houses: "The proposed location is more than 400 metres away from the nearest residential development and is accessed directly off H5 Portway, a busy grid road which can easily accommodate the additional traffic of around 20 lorries per day.

"There will be no problems with noise and smell, as waste treatment will take place within a fully enclosed, purpose-built building with equipment to control both odour and dust emissions."

Party politicians playing Passmore the parcel

SIR – On Tuesday, October 19, our borough councillors were asked to consider a proposal from the residents of Woughton on the Green, Woughton Park and Passmore to create their own parish – known as the 'Small is Beautiful' campaign.

The group put forward a coherent argument and had the backing of more than 90 per cent of residents who responded to a survey.

The public gallery was packed and applauded speeches from residents who put forward their case – a clearly unusual event given the stunned look on the faces of our councillors.

Yet, despite the overwhelming desire for a community to run its own affairs, in exactly the same way as Simpson and Loughton Parish are allowed to do, Labour and LibDem councillors 'ganged up' to shoot down the proposal for no other reason but internal party politics.

After failing to read the superb proposal from SiB, and presumably sleeping through the speeches, one by one they stood up to peddle irrelevant excuses:

Cllr Chris Williams didn't understand the boundaries, the answer to which was existing ward boundaries combined with the democratic wish of residents.

Cllr Hannah O'Neil described herself as a Woughton girl, who couldn't understand the reasoning behind the proposal. However, as public records reveal, she failed to point out that, shortly after being elected for Woughton, she fled for a shiny new home in the affluent Fenny Stratford.

Cllr Ric Brackenbury announced he 'didn't get into politics to discuss parish boundaries'. Clearly, this recently elected member is now beyond discussing ordinary people.

Cllr Crooks, representing Middleton, voted against the wishes of his own residents despite being fully briefed by the SiB group co-ordinator.

Enough said.

It was obvious that the democratic wish of residents was to form a new parish. However, when democracy should have ruled, hypocrisy ruled.

John Baker
Woughton

■ SIR – I write as a resident of Passmore who has witnessed the recent unsuccessful campaign to have Passmore 'divorced' from the rest of Woughton.

My response to the 'Very angry resident Woughton on the Green' (letters Oct 27) correspondent is that, at a time of severe public spending cuts, the council has better things on which to spend its time and money than pandering to the desire of a vociferous minority in Passmore to be associated with posher neighbourhoods than Netherfield.

The entire thrust of the campaign, which has been coming through my letter box for some time now, is that we have nothing in common with Netherfield.

For once, well done MKC!

A totally relaxed Passmore resident

Beanhill no basement

SIR – It is quite unfair to describe Beanhill, or any other settlement, as a 'basement estate'.

The annual MK Social Atlas ranking is greatly misunderstood. The list of so-called best and worst estates is based on a number of indicators (some of them arbitrary) such as household income, crime, numbers of children with special needs, educational attainment, numbers of older people and disabled people, emergency admissions to hospital and general health of the population.

What the rankings are actually measuring is levels of deprivation, unequal distribution of wealth between settlements and, consequently, the life chances of residents who live there.

Inevitably, rural areas and estates populated by families with higher incomes will always come out best based on these measures since residents are likely to have better educational qualifications, be healthier and live longer lives.

The Social Atlas can tell us where resources should be targeted to improve the lives of residents but not whether a particular settlement is a good place to live or about its community spirit and social cohesion.

Going online

SIR – I think it is appalling that any shopping centre considers charging the public to park their car.

You pay road tax. You spend money in their shops, so why do you have to pay to park?

I would only park at the shopping centre if I get a free parking space, I refuse to pay.

If the council charges for all spaces at CMK, I won't be shopping there, I will be shopping online.

Blind lose out on buses

SIR – I'm a blind pensioner and getting my local bus sometimes feels as challenging as travelling across the Amazon.

With my sight, I lost my driving licence. So I rely on the bus to get to visit friends and family, go to the supermarket and to do some voluntary work helping my fellow visually-impaired people. But it's not unusual for a bus to drive past me at a stop or start moving before I have found a seat. I've even been put off a bus terminating early with no information to tell me where I was.

Often the problems I face are due to a lack of information and no training to help drivers understand the needs of disabled passengers.

Our Government and other EU member states are discussing proposals to improve the rights of disabled bus passengers. It could mean accessible travel information on local buses and make disability awareness training mandatory for staff. But some Governments, including our own, do not support the proposals, leaving 10million disabled people in the UK continuing to struggle with something as simple as catching our local bus.

RNIB helped me to write to my MP asking him to urge the Government to support my rights. If other readers want to do the same, it's easy via RNIB's website, visit www.rnib.org.uk/campaigns or call 020 7391 2123.

Don't let disabled people get left behind.

Wear a poppy

SIR – Once again this year on November 11 at 11am people all across Milton Keynes and the nation will stop for two minutes to mark the moment 92 years ago when the guns fell silent in the First World War.

Since that time the day has become a time to remember people who have fallen in that and subsequent conflicts.

The Royal British Legion which does so much for those currently serving in the armed forces, ex-service men and women and their families, will over the coming weeks, be doing a great deal to raise its profile and funds, including selling poppies

On Sunday, November 14, wreaths will be laid at memorials to the fallen. Milton Keynes has many local centres with memorials where dignitaries, veterans, serving soldiers and ordinary people alike will meet to pay their respects.

As mayor, I am involved with a small steering group, The Milton Keynes Cenotaph Trust, which has been working towards the proposal for a central site of remembrance for all, where we can remember those who have represented us at war, and continue to do so, and also to provide a wider commemoration opportunity for the MK citizens.

So over the next few weeks when you see poppies on sale I would encourage everyone to make a donation and to wear a poppy with pride, to honour and support the brave men, women and their families who have sacrificed so much to defend the freedoms we all enjoy.

Cllr Debbie Brock
Mayor of Milton Keynes

What's up doc?

SIR – Phoning your GP surgery could be costing you a small fortune.

Six or seven surgeries in MK use 08444 or 084445 numbers.

Calls to an 08444 number costs about 6p connection charge plus 5p per minute. A three minute call would cost you 21p. If the receptionist puts you on hold for five minutes, that's an extra 25p.

That means a single mum on benefits using a pay-as-you-go mobile could pay 50p to call the doctor to make an appointment for her young baby.

I understand the doctors make about 1.225p per minute from these charges.

If you dial your surgery and it's an 08444 number, ask to speak to the practice manager and ask how much the surgery is making from these charges.

You have already contributed to the NHS by paying your taxes.

Graffiti-busters wash away art

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

HOURS after young people had taken part in a pavement drawing campaign council workmen came and washed it all away.

The national campaign, called the Big Draw project, aimed at young people from the most deprived parts of the city, saw 30 teenagers take part in the drawing for eight hours.

But the following morning, a council workman turned up to clean the pavements outside Milton Keynes' Central Bus Station, and washed away thetheir efforts.

Danny Quinn, Make a Difference, said: "Artist Lauren Clemmet worked with the young people to develop their designs and ensure that all pieces produced were non-offensive and contained the spirit of Halloween, as well as the Skateboarding culture which surrounds the Buszy venue.

"It was a real disappointment to see the Street Care team remove the artwork the very next morning"

A council spokesman said: "We work hard to remove graffiti throughout Milton Keynes on both our land and with an ongoing agreement with HCA, which owns the land in question.

"Neither ourselves or HCA were informed of the event so our team cleaned the area in good faith. We are surprised that the person taking photos of the clean up did not come over to our cleansing team who would have been happy to stop once they became aware it was an art project for Halloween."

Make A Difference says it always forwards information about events to the Public Arts team. The council says this was not the case.

Water company on target

ANGLIAN Water has been named as one of the top two water companies in England and Wales for the fourth year running.

The company was awarded 418 points out of a maximum 438 putting it second only to Wessex, who topped the table with 426 in Ofwat's (the water industry watchdog) annual report.

The report scored firms on the quality and security of their water supply, how they dealt with sewage, customer service and their impact on the environment.

Peter Simpson, Anglian Water's managing director, said: "Ofwat's report criticised some companies for the amount of water lost through leaks. I'm pleased to say Anglian Water met its leakage targets, despite the harsh winter which caused a large number of burst pipes."

Following a bad winter the previous year, the company invested heavily to make sure it had the extra technicians and resources to cope with the increased workload.

Anglian Water says it supplies the same amount of water a day as it did 20 years ago, despite having 20 per cent more customers.

The company also claims customer complaints about water quality have fallen by almost 60 per cent over the last ten years.

A great LEP forward

MK COUNCIL has been given the go-ahead to create a Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) to boost the economy and create jobs.

A key aim of the LEP is to make the South East Midlands area a National Centre of Excellence for advanced technologies and precision engineering.

Leader of Milton Keynes Council, Cec Tallack, said: "This now gives us all a fantastic opportunity to lead the economic growth of the UK when we pull out of the recession. The South East Midlands is a great place to live and work but we are determined to make it even better with greater opportunity for all."

The city MPs, Mark Lancaster and Iain Stewart, too have welcomed the announcement approving the LEP.

Mr Stewart, who intervened during business secretary Vince Cable's announcement in the Commons, said: "This is a much more logical grouping for Milton Keynes than the artificial boundaries of the South East of England and, with business in the driving seat, will help the area's economic development and lead to more jobs and investment."

Mr Lancaster added: "The beginning of the LEP truly signals a move towards business-led economic growth. By bridging the gap between the public and private sectors, this LEP is essential to our recovery from the financial collapse, and securing future prosperity.

Cllr Cec Tallack

Tent man's body may have been in bushes two years

Loner's bones found near railway line

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

THE cause of a man's death remains unknown after little more than his bones were discovered – more than two years after his disappearance.

Michael Vella, 55, formerly of Hodge Lea Lane, Hodge Lea, was last seen in March 2008 and reported missing to police in October 2009.

His remains were not found until April this year, by two young men in a flattened tent in bushes near to the West Coast main line between Wolverton and Castle Thorpe.

At an inquest last week a jury heard the area around the tent had been set up like a camp, and Michael was only identified by the keys and soap-dish found inside the tent.

The court also heard the tent's ropes had been cut, but whether this was done before the tent was erect or afterwards is unknown.

The inquest was also told £330 cash was found on his person, suggesting Mr Vella had not been robbed or that there was any third-party involvement.

Home Office pathologist, Dr Robert Chapman, said he was unable to determine a cause or even date of death, due to the insufficient material.

He said: "There was very little, only bones and tissue. Very little tissue. There was no evidence of trauma, but there were no internal organs to examine. It was not possible to take any toxicology results.

"There were further examinations carried out by experts. There were old fractures which had healed, but they would not have caused death. There was no evidence of any assault.

"For all we know, the body could have been there for two years.

"The medical cause remains unobtainable."

Prior to his disappearance, Mr Vella had left his mother a note stating that he had gone away on a short holiday.

Mrs Vella said: "This was not out of the ordinary.

"He had spent a lot of time in India. He liked the open air."

She agreed that it had not come as a shock that he had been found in a tent.

She added: "He spent most of time out in the shed reading and smoking. He rarely used to speak, he disliked talking.

"He was his own person."

The jury declared an open verdict, a decision supported by deputy coroner Mr Osbourne.

Mr Osbourne said: "One the balance of probabilities and the evidence we have heard, I believe Michael died peacefully and without pain.

"It is probably how he would have liked to have died."

Pregnant women join those eligible for free flu injection

WINTER is now well on its way, with the days getting colder and the nights growing longer – and with it comes the flu season.

NHS Milton Keynes is now reminding local people who are offered the free flu vaccine by their GP to take up the offer.

Flu is not the same as getting a cold and and can seriously affect your health.

People aged over 65, as well as other people with long-term conditions such as diabetes or heart conditions, should remember that even if they feel well, they are at increased risk of seasonal flu and the jab is their best protection.

Everyone aged 65 and over is routinely offered the jab, as are younger people with long-term conditions such as heart disease, diabetes, asthma, multiple sclerosis, serious kidney and liver disease. Around 15 million people in the UK have the jab, which must be administered every year as it is altered to match the flu strains in circulation.

This year for the first time, the NHS is also offering all pregnant women the seasonal flu vaccination as it protects against the H1N1 virus (swine flu) that will still be circulating this winter.

Gillian Prager, MK's chief nurse receives her flu vaccination

Gillian Prager, director of clinical standards, engagement and workforce and the borough's chief nurse said: "I strongly encourage everyone who is offered the flu jab to have it. The effects of flu should not be underestimated, especially for people with long-term conditions having the jab will help protect your health."

Anti-Tesco group fears traffic chaos

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

AN exhibition on the 'traffic chaos' a new Tesco store could bring to Newport Pagnell was held by residents group TESNO at the weekend.

The group has been fighting plans for a new store on the old Aston Martin site on Tickford Street since an original planning application was made by the supermarket in summer 2009.

That application was voluntarily withdrawn, but TESNO says a new, altered application is still no good and will attract too much traffic.

An exhibition was staged at the weekend at The Swan Revived Hotel to demonstrate this point.

TESNO chairman Tom Lonergan said: "The exhibition was very succesful, providing residents with an opportunity to inform and be informed about the threathened Tesco traffic chaos facing their community with at least two million extra cars rolling all across every major road in Newport Pagnell will bring.

"TESNO aims to deploy The Traffic Exhibition across the community now for the duration of this current campaign."

Tony Fletcher, Tesco corporate affairs manager, said: "It is not clear where these alarmist figures have come from but it is disappointing to see such exaggerated claims being made.

Visitors to the TESNO show at The Swan Revived

"Clearly it is not in our or our customers' interests to create traffic congestion or other problems for a new store which aims to serve the local community.

"As required, we have carried out a detailed traffic assessment as part of our planning application which takes all factors into consideration. We remain confident that the local road network has the capacity to handle traffic projections safely."

Paedophile's plea to have sentence cut is dismissed

A 63-YEAR-OLD who systematically abused several youngsters more than 20 years ago has failed to win a cut in his jail term despite pleas for mercy due to his dire state of health.

Alan Dennis Stewart, of St Dunstans, Coffee Hall, was jailed for eight years last December at Portsmouth Crown Court after he was convicted of assorted counts of sexual assault and indecent assault.

Stewart, who was led into the dock on crutches yesterday, challenged his sentence with claims that a series of strokes made prison life unbearable.

His lawyers urged the court to slash his sentence and 'show mercy' in light of his deteriorating health.

But Lord Justice Elias, sitting at London's Appeal Court, noted the devastating impact Stewart's crimes had on his three male victims.

The offences took place over a 26-year period in Hampshire and Milton Keynes, and Stewart's first two victims were abused when they were schoolboys aged under ten.

The two older victims, who went to police 20 years after their ordeals, were left profoundly traumatised, experiencing problems in maintaining adult relationships and being prone to suicidal thoughts.

The mother of the third victim is still haunted by fears about the long-terms effects of the abuse on her son, and has 'tried to take her own life', the court heard.

Lord Justice Elias concluded that, given his "extremely serious" crimes against youngsters who also had to undergo the humiliation of testifying in court, the eight-year sentence was not excessive and dismissed Stewart's appeal.

Bonfire Night hedgehog warning

LOOK out for hedgehogs in your bonfire this weekend.

This month Wyevale Woburn Sands Garden Centre, Newport Road, is supporting the British Hedgehog Preservation Society (BHPS) initiative to help raise awareness of this seasonal danger.

To save hedgehogs and other wildlife from injuries that might be caused by fires, BHPS is asking people to build their bonfires the day they are to be lit.

Fay Vass, chief executive of BHPS, said: "If material is stored on open ground in advance of having a bonfire, it is crucial to dismantle it and move it to another spot just before lighting.

"Ensure it is moved to clear ground, never on top of a pile of leaves, as there could be a hedgehog underneath."

BHPS is a charity dedicated to helping and protecting hedgehogs. The organisation runs a helpline with advice on caring for hedgehogs in the wild and in gardens.

Dominic Wright, manager of the garden centre, said: "Hedgehogs provide a vital role in helping to naturally control slugs in the garden and are an important friend to the gardener."

Trucker cleared of race-driver death

Two killed as lorry driver pulled out in front of BMW doing 117mph

BY KIRSTEN RAWLINS
kirsten.rawlins@mk-news.co.uk

Former professional racing driver Joe Tandy was drunk at the wheel of a BMW doing 117mph when he hit Daniel Rider's lorry

LORRY driver Daniel Rider expressed relief after being cleared of causing two deaths by careless driving.

Mr Rider, 26, stood trial despite evidence that the other motorist was driving at 117 mph, while twice over the legal alcohol limit and with a faulty brake system on his car.

He waited almost 18 months before a judge finally ruled that there was insufficient evidence to convict him.

Former professional racing driver Joe Tandy, 26, from Pavenham, Bedfordshire, who was driving a BMW car and passenger Luke Temple, 22 from Olney, both died in the crash.

The court heard Mr Rider was driving a DAF LGV and was pulling out onto the main road from Box End Road, Bromham, Bedfordshire, on May 13 last year when a silver BMW crashed into him.

Paramedic Kate Hood, who was in a car that was overtaken by the BMW prior the crash, told the court: "In my mind I thought he was going to cause an accident. I did not think he was driving safely."

Accident investigator PC John Spears said calculations showed the speed of the BMW was between 115 and 117mph on the 60mph limit road.

He said the anti-locking braking system was not working and a blood sample from Tandy gave a reading of 142 milligrammes of alcohol in the blood - the legal driving limit is 80.

The officer said the lorry driver would have had 3.3 seconds to see the car. His tachograph showed he had stopped at the junction before pulling out.

Judge Barbara Mensah said in her opinion she could see little likelihood that a jury would convict, but prosecution lawyers wished to continue with the case.

The judge later told the jury: "The case is inherently weak. You could not properly convict him on the evidence you have heard."

However, she said it had been right that the evidence had been tested in court.

Thieves drive off with haul in motor home burgled from the same house

BURGLARS stole a motor home and electrical goods after breaking-in to a house in Leighton Buzzard.

The offenders entered a rear window of a house in St Mary's Way, Leighton Buzzard, between 10.30am and 10.50pm, and searched the property before making-off with electrical items and their 57-registered white Peugeot Boxer motor home.

Eight bags were discovered the following day containing the electrical goods and paperwork by a woman walking her dog in a field in Long Buckby, Daventry.

Police say motorists may have seen the motor home or someone dumping the bags in a field near to the Canine Grooming Centre in Long Buckby, Daventry between Friday evening and Saturday morning.

He added: "It is very likely the offenders will now try to sell the motor home on and I would urge the public and those in the trade to contact us if they are offered property they believe is stolen"

The incident took place on October 22.

Take a look at me now ...

With Christmas parties coming up, everyone wants to look their best for the festive season. Reporter KIRSTEN RAWLINS visited Midsummer Place to check out the shops and salons and met one of the centre's latest additions – Libby Del Greco

LIBBY Del Greco – what a character. She had invited me to come down and have a makeover at Regis Salon, where she is manager and, half-expecting a middle-aged woman with very little to say, I met Libby – the star of Midsummer Place.

Twenty nine-year-old Libby not only has the perfect character to be a hairdresser, she also has enough years of overseas and celebrity-filled experience to make any girl envious.

She has met Donatella Versace, Kylie (who she described as lovely and the true meaning of pint-sized) and worked alongside famous hairdresser Eugene Souleiman who has worked on shows of Dolce and Gabbana, Louis Vitton and Givenchy.

Incidentally Libby told me when she first met Souleiman, without realising who he was, she ordered him to help her make tea. An embarrasing situation to say the least, I can imagine.

Libby began hairdressing when she was 15 and has since done various shows including The Clothes Show, and worked in a top salon in Milan for eight-and-a-half months.

Besides being a talented hairdresser, she also happens to be fluent in Italian (being of Italian descent) and has a degree in business.

Libby said: "When I was much younger I wanted to be a paediatrician, but after visiting a hospital in London I decided it just wasn't for me.

"But I still wanted to help people, so I became a hairdresser. I help people look good and feel good about themselves.

"Every day's different and there's so many avenues to further your career in hairdressing. I've been at Regis just over a year now.

"Regis is great, we offer so many different treatments, products an accessories. Not only that, but our staff are always off on courses learning about the latest fashions.

"I would say this is the perfect salon to come to for Christmas, as with all the parties coming up everyone wants to look great. New Year, new fabulous you."

Regis also has an offer coming up for those of you whose bank accounts will be suffering after the festive period, so look out for the promotion launching in November to save you money in the new year.

And as for me, my hair looks and feels fantastic. I never normally visit salons, but Libby was such fantastic company and a pleasure to interview that I'll certainly be returning for my Christmas cut.

■ Clothes for the makeover came from Hawes and Curtis and Levi's, and the jewellery from Fabulous.

Dirty Dancing set to hit

THE smash hit musical Dirty Dancing is going on a first ever nationwide tour with Milton Keynes announced among the first batch of dates.

The iconic film starring Jennifer Grey and the late Patrick Swayze, the stage version has played to packed-out audiences at venues around the world.

Karl Sydow, a producer of the show at London's Aldwych Theatre, is one of the people responsible for the tour which hits Milton Keynes Theatre from Tuesday, May 1, 2012 to Saturday, May 26, 2012.

He said: "I'm very thrilled to be able to take it around the cities.

"It's a huge responsibility because it's a show which is much loved and people have a lot of affection for it.

"It's hugely important in people's lives and it's important we get it right.

"It has had an incredible response around the world. It's had huge ticket advances, like a massive rock and roll or pop band. It's been a record everywhere it's played.

"I think Eleanor (Bergstein, scriptwriter and creator of Dirty Dancing) wrote an amazing story. It's a crucial part in people's lives and in girls growing up."

Dirty Dancing has a mass following and is one of those must-see films and theatre experiences.

It sold more than £15million in ticket advances before it opened in London in 2006 making it the fastest selling show in West End history. More than one million people have been through the doors of the Aldwych Theatre to see the musical and such is its popularity its run has been extended to October 2011 with another 250,000 tickets going on sale.

Dirty Dancing has a huge appeal which Karl believes is city's theatre next year

down to giving people what they want.

"The show has one of the great climaxes of all time, it's hugely emotional", he said.

"It's the fulfillment of a dream for the characters and the people watching it. It all builds to that and it has to be everyone's favourite moment; what you want to happen, happens.

"We recreate the whole experience. We recreate those iconic moments and there is a great finale of Baby and Johnny, Baby getting out of the corner and celebrating.

"They get to see Baby carry a watermelon and the scene on the lake."

Karl has seen Dirty Dancing take to stages around the world and it has been a big part of his life since 2004.

He said: "I've been involved with it since Australia when we started in Sydney, about seven years and six years on stage.

"People react to it in the theatre because they are in the room with Johnny and Baby.

"It adapts incredibly well.

"People have come along as they've wanted to be there and that's what theatre delivers."

But what is it about theatres which captivates people so much and has them heading back year after year for more?

Karl said: "There's something very special about theatre and the live experience.

"There's nothing like being there and being in the room. You know it's happening. You know there are no tricks, no CGI - you are there. The audience really participate.

"That helps create the experience and there's nothing like it."

Eleanor Bergstein said: "I am happy to announce the opening of the UK tour of Dirty Dancing.†

"In our fifth year in London, it is still astounding for me to sit amid our audiences, many of whom I discover have planned long in advance and travelled†far to see us.

"Each performance, they honour us with a personal and loving response which delights us and makes us grateful.

"It is a special pleasure then for us to plan a production that will have the chance both to visit and thank those who have travelled so far to see us, and to take our show to those who could not make the journey".

Tickets to see Dirty Dancing at Milton Keynes Theatre are on sale now. You can get them from the box office on 0844 871 7652 or at www.ambassadortickets.com/Milton-Keynes-Theatre.

OAPs out in the cold over no-stop buses

PENSIONERS at a retirement village are worried they will be left waiting in the cold this winter.

Residents at Lovat Fields in Willen Park say they are sometimes left waiting for an hour for a bus while three, sometimes empty, buses drive past their stop.

The PlatinumMK 300 service, recently shortlisted for a top 'Winning New Customers' award, travels every 20 minutes from Station Square to Magna Park Logistics Park near Kingston, but is a limited-stop service so passes by the bus stop outside Lovat Fields.

The state-of-the-art 300 buses are low floor with easy access, but residents claim the number 3, which does stop, is not wheelchair friendly.

Resident Denis Balchin, 73, said: "Three 300 buses drive by empty within an hour, it's so frustrating.

"Whatever time you go out there, it's empty.

"I'm not looking forward to winter because we know we're going to be standing at the bus stop there, sometimes over an hour, watching the things going by."

The residents also say they will need the service to get to the new Coachway once it opens, but if the 300 continues to go by, they will have to get a number 3 to the city centre, then a number 300 back the way they came.

David Page, 65, said: "About 350 people live on this site, which is a ready market. That's the thing - we're a group of people which will quite readily use public transport, but it needs to be there, and if the council aren't providing it we're going to use the car.

Lovat Fields pensioners say buses are passing them by

"But there are some people who don't have a car so they have to wait out there for over an hour."

The residents complained to ward councillor Alan Mallyon, former cabinet member for transport, even submitting a 182-signature petition, but he says there is not enough demand for the 300 to stop there.

He said: "We went to a survey to see how many might use the bus and it turned out there might be two or three because most go by car. In response to their petiion, part of the recent changes that were made was to reroute the number 3 bus to provide them with the service that they wanted.

"It's been nominated for an award because it's an express bus, so it doesn't stop everywhere."

■ Last week saw the inaugral meeting of MK Bus Users' Group (BUG), which voted in committee members and agreed a constitution. MK BUG has been set up as an independent body of users to work with the city's bus companies to improve services.

MK magistrates refuse appeal of licensee who sold to under-aged

A SHOPKEEPER has lost an appeal to keep selling alcohol after losing her licence following complaints from the police.

Milton Keynes Council had revoked the licence held by Sutharanjiny Kathir to sell alcohol at Newport Food and Wine, Annesley Road, Newport Pagnell, last May following an application by Thames Valley Police for the licence to be reviewed.

This followed a history of licence breaches at the premises including selling to a person under age in 2009, failing to keep a sales refusal log, selling alcohol when personal licence holders were not on site and failing to comply with certain other responsibilities.

In its report, Thames Valley Police stated the area was high-risk in terms of its proximity to a secondary school, the history of problems at the shop and constant concerns about under age and proxy sales taking place.

Mrs Kathir appealed the council decision to revoke the licence but magistrates confirmed the original decision was correct.

They concluded there was a lack of understanding by the licence holder about her responsibilities. She had also failed to adequately co-operate or comply with requirements in light of issues being raised to them by the police and the council.

Although the licence had been revoked in May, the appeal meant that alcohol could still be sold at the shop until the court case was heard. The decision now means the sale of alcohol must stop immediately.

Cllr Mike Galloway, responsible for environment, said: "The Licensing Authority takes breaches of licence conditions and under age sales very seriously and supports the action taken by the police to control this.

"The committee has shown that it will remove licences where appropriate and it is good to see our decision in this case has been upheld by the magistrates."

Dangerous seesaws removed from play areas

POPULAR seesaws are being removed from five play areas across the city following a warning about a potential design fault.

The seesaws have a pivoted swing arm with two seats on top of a central pole.

Distributors found that the pivot arm has been made too short and could pose a risk.

The areas affected are Stantonbury, Tattenhoe Lane, The Hide, Tandra and the Kingfisher Centre in Newport Pagnell.

MK Council decided to remove the seesaws until the makers come up with a solution to fix the design problem.

Neighbourhood Improvement team leader, Rob Lawrence, said: "It is important that we ensure that the equipment is safe for children to play on without risking them getting hurt".

MP Mark Lancaster meets with Christian Aid members in Westminster. They claim climate change is having a disproportionate impact on poorer countries

MK meets local lobbyists

RESIDENTS have lobbied a city MP to seek his support for developing countries.

Mark Lancaster MP met with several constituents at the Christian Aid lobby last Wednesday at Westminster, who echoed his concerns about several issues including the impact of climate change.

The national charity believes that these factors keep people poor.

One campaigner, John Reardon, from Newport Pagnell United Reformed Church, said: "We are pleased with what Mark has done so far with regard to aid. We are really pleased that the aid budget was protected, but I feel very strongly about climate change.

"The rest of the world faces a far greater crisis than we do. We would really like to see transparency with tax and that's why we are here today. Companies based here should not make gains from exploitation of other countries."

Mr Lancaster said: "Tackling climate change is just one of many issues that we must address if we are to stop the blight of thousands of lives across the world as I saw for myself in Bangladesh recently where melting glaciers are having a major impact on communities living on the low lying river delta.

"While the Government is already making great inroads, the lobby has been important to ensure we keep pressing for change on this and other issues."

CHRIST the Cornerstone was the first city venue to see the graduation ceremonies for the University of Bedfordshire. The two ceremonies attracted just under 250 graduates.

Post-ceremony celebrations then moved to the University Centre Milton Keynes where Sir Peter Williams received an Honorary Doctorate of Science for his outstanding contribution to the development of primary education.

Sir Peter said: "The church is beautiful – there was a sense of intimacy there but it's also quite a grand venue. But the day is actually all about the graduating students and what they are going to do and achieve in the rest of their careers."

New guide for stroke sufferers

A NEW guide for stroke patients, their carers and relatives has been developed by NHS Milton Keynes.

Strokes are the third leading cause of death and the single largest cause of adult disability in England – in MK in 2008, 105 people died from a stroke.

No two strokes are the same and the effects on individuals vary widely.

For many patients and their carers and relatives, this is a traumatic and difficult time, and the guide has been developed by NHS Milton Keynes in collaboration with other partners with the view that knowledge can often comfort and guide them on their way to recovery.

The Stroke Guide is aimed at helping patients and their carers live as normal a life as possible, and is localised, to be specifically relevant to patients living in the borough.

Sandra Harrison-Moore, stroke clinical specialist, said: "The aftermath of a stroke can be a very difficult time for both patients and their families. We are very grateful to our invaluable patient and carer representatives, who helped us create the guide by sharing their own stroke experiences. We hope future patients and their families will be guided along their recovery pathway, to live a full as life as possible."

The guide is distributed to stroke patients at MK Hospital.

It is also available to view on www.miltonkeynes.nhs.uk and at local libraries.

Nursery kids get pick of the crop

CHILDREN in Cranfield have been harvesting the rewards of autumn.

The Butterflies children at Cherry Trees Day Nursery picked apples from their very own tree in the nursery garden, to learn about friut and veg and how they grow.

Some of the children even got to climb the step ladder to reach some of the higher branches, teaching them about the risks of such a job.

They then weighed the apples, discovered if they floated or sank in water, sorted the apples by size and colour, tasted the apples and printed patterns with them.

The children also had 50 pumpkins delivered for Halloween to further their harvest-based learning.

The activity was all part of the Early Years Foundation Stage of learning, covering important subjects like making healthy choices, risk and challenge, problem solving and reasoning and numeracy.

Nursery manager Michelle Nokes said: "Doing these kinds of activities covers so many areas, and a lot of parents don't realise how much they can learn from this.

"They are tiny little things, but the children remember them really well."

M1 widening and A421 upgrade escape cuts

CITY MP Iain Stewart has welcomed the Secretary of State for Transport's announcement that two key infrastructure projects will continue as planned.

The widening of the M1 from Junction 10 to Junction 13 and the upgrading of the A421 from Bedford to the M1 are both vital projects for the Milton Keynes economy.

Mr Stewart said: "I am delighted that, even in difficult economic circumstances, the Government has prioritised key infrastructure projects such as these. These two road projects will improve round communication for Milton Keynes motorists and businesses and are key to gathering new jobs and business investments locally."

Ray Reed, head of Bletchley and Bucks Freemasons, reveals the results of a multi-million pound fundraising scheme for disadvantaged children at Freemasons' Hall in London

Freemasons raise £2.6m in five years

A RECORD amount has been raised by Bletchley Freemasons this year, despite the recession.

The 12 groups which meet at the Masonic Centre in Queensway, Bletchley, helped to generate more than £2.6million for disadvantaged and bereaved children in the five-year 2010 Festival Appeal fundraising drive.

The figure surprised even the head of Bletchley and Bucks Freemasons, Ray Reed, who announced the final amount at Freemasons' Hall in London on Monday.

He said: "We set the target for the fundraising drive at £2m, and it is utterly amazing that we in fact managed to generate over £2.6 million in just five years.

"I thank all of the 3,800 freemasons across Bletchley and Bucks for the wonderful effort, which will make a huge difference to the lives of ordinary girls and boys who have already suffered for too long in their short lives.

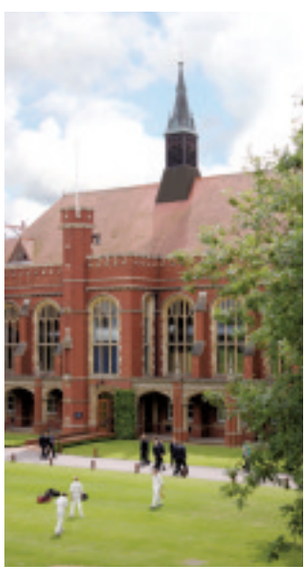
"In particular, the Bletchley groups responded magnificently to the appeal, championing our ideals of friendship, decency, and charity.

"The recession means the district is feeling the pinch financially. So a big thanks to the Bletchley groups who have gone the extra mile."

A tangible atmosphere of 'can-do'

A visit to Bedford School is both refreshing and reassuring. While academic excellence is of course high on the agenda, education here does not revolve around league tables, as Head Master John Moule explains. "We care about results, but not exclusively," he declares with conviction, "education is about more than grades; it is about an awareness of the world, about independent thought, about values."

His aspirations are immediately evident upon setting foot in the classrooms where boys from 7 to 18 study an impressively broad curriculum. The small classes are humming with purposeful activity and throughout the school there is a strong sense of community and a tangible atmosphere of 'can-do'. In these stimulating surroundings, the staff are able to identify and build on the individual strengths of every boy who is in turn motivated to discover and build on his own particular talents. The success of this approach is clearly demonstrated by the school's consistently high results at GCSE, A Level and in the prestigious International Baccalaureate.



Exceptional resources

Excellence is celebrated throughout the School, not least in the provision of its resources. Every department is well equipped, its new library is perhaps the best of its kind in the country, and the arts facilities are outstanding. Hard work is balanced by a lot of fun and everywhere you turn – on the sports field, in the state-of-the art Music School, the astonishing Observatory and Planetarium, in rooms, halls and quiet corners - there is something going on.

Bedford School has a proud sporting tradition as well as a long-established reputation for excellence in music and drama, and both sport and the performing arts figure high in the daily life of the school. And across an extraordinary spectrum of leisure activities, the boys are encouraged to join in and have a go at a variety of pursuits that are regarded as vital as academic learning to personal growth.

A sense of family

Pastoral care is equally holistic. The house system provides a sense of 'family' and there is a high degree of trust apparent in the relationship between a boy and his tutor. Teamwork is very much key here and there is an easy and relaxed working partnership between teachers, tutors, parents and the boys themselves. This level of support continues right up until the day they leave, and sometimes beyond. Consequently the boys emerge as highly personable, self-assured and thoughtful young men, ambitious and well equipped to face life's challenges.

Staff at Milton Keynes Hospital practice taking readings manually for Manual Observations Week

Hands-on as hospital staff check patients

MEDICAL staff at the hospital will be going back to basics this week.

Monday began the hospital's Manual Observations Week, where nurses and health care assistants (HCAs) will be ditching high-tech machines for checks in favour of traditional devices, when patients need their blood pressure or heart rate checked.

Jon Mounsey, practice development nurse, said: "Machines just give you numbers. But when you take manual readings, you spend time with the patient, you make skin-to-skin contact and you can speak to them and find out what help they need. It's also more empowering for the staff, particularly HCAs. The more often they take manual readings, the more you can see their ability and confidence levels go up."

To take the readings, staff will be using manual stethoscopes and manual sphygs for blood pressure readings.

The hospital has been teaching manual observation for the past two years, and has training as part of inductions, for newly qualified staff and for HCAs.

Every ward now has manual sphygs and use of the manual equipment is increasing across the hospital as a result.

MP is in the pink at MK cancer care unit

ON the day Britain was 'wearing it pink' to support breast cancer care, a city MP went to see the work being done at his local hospital.

Iain Stewart, MP for Milton Keynes South, wore his pink shirt and breast cancer care badge as he visited the Macmillan Cancer Unit of the Milton Keynes General Hospital on Friday.

The unit, which receives 12,000 visits a year, has been the recipient of a unique Quality Environment Mark award from Macmillan Cancer Support for the standard of its care provision.

The Wear It Pink national campaign intends to raise awareness specifically for breast cancer, with supporters like Mr Stewart donating money to wear the colour.

Mr Stewart was told about a special system to safeguard the lives of chemotherapy patients who, as a result of their treatment, are susceptible to infection, that has been devised by unit manager Alison Sandaver and her team.

Unique to the unit at Milton Keynes, it involves providing patients with a card, giving some details of their treatment, so upon presentation at any accident and emergency unit, they receive treatment within an hour.

Macmillan Cancer Unit manager Alison Sandaver with Iain Stewart, and information and support nurse Fay Grech-Marguerat

Mr Stewart said: "Dedicated people like Alison and her team are unsung heroes who do an amazing job helping others through such a difficult time in their lives.

"Supporting people with cancer is important and I am pleased that, not only is the funding for the NHS ring-fenced, but there is a drugs fund that provides up to £200million for patients to access key drugs. It is also great to see so many people, including my colleagues in Parliament, supporting the Wear It Pink campaign."

The Macmillan Cancer Unit also has an information and support centre where a wide range of services, including one-to-one support is provided by a fully qualified specialist nurse in oncology and her team of trained volunteers to anyone affected by cancer.

Teenager's cat snap could be a winner

THIS picture of Solomon could win a Leighton Buzzard schoolgirl the RSPCA's Young Photographer Award.

Sophie Wallace, 14, has been shortlisted along with six other talented youngsters out of thousands of entries from across the country.

BBC 1's Countryfile star Matt Baker, who helped put together the shortlist, said: "We're always looking for something original that captures the personality of the animal. This isn't easy to do and some of the images are so beautiful I was stunned to learn how young the photographers actually are."

Could you offer a home for a child or young person in care?

Milton Keynes Council Fostering Service are looking for people who could offer a home and support for a child or young person in our care.

Foster carers come from all walks of life. We provide professional training, support, together with a generous fee and a fostering allowance.

Milton Keynes Supported Lodgings are looking for people who have a spare room, time and patience to offer for a teenager aged between 16-18 years old. The young people will require support and understanding to help them move towards independence. Supported Lodgings providers come from a range of backgrounds. Professional and informal training and support are provided together with a financial package.

In a joint venture, our Fostering and Supported Lodgings Teams would like to invite you along to one of our informal 'drop in' evenings which are to be held at local venues. Staff and foster carers will be on hand to have a chat with you over a cup of tea or coffee and to answer any questions you may have.

Drop in venues;

- Tuesday 9th November 6 - 8pm at The Jury's Inn Hotel, Midsummer Boulevard, Milton Keynes MK9 3HS.
- Thursday 11th November 6 - 8pm at our local office Saxon Court, 502 Avebury Boulevard, Milton Keynes MK9 3HS.

We look forward to meeting you.

Two hundred people turned up for the opening of Whitespace Yoga in Stony Stratford

Yoga studio a first for city

THE city's first dedicated yoga studio opened on Saturday, welcoming 200 people through its doors.

Whitespace Yoga on the High Street, Stony Stratford, has two studios specifically for those who enjoy the relaxing, body-bending exercise.

Over the last 20 years, yoga has gone from being a minority movement to a widespread practice with a host of different styles for those seeking to improve their fitness as well as their general wellbeing.

Whitespace Yoga's founder and director, Deborah McNicholas, 36, said: "Yoga has become hugely popular in the UK in recent years and most cities boast successful and busy yoga studios.

"Having a dedicated studio to practice yoga completely changes your experience. The calm and relaxed space allows you to get away from your everyday life and really enjoy the benefits.

"I'm really proud and honored to be bringing the first yoga centre to my home town."

The studio offers tai chi, pilates and meditation classes as well as yoga throughout the day, and intensive workshops at weekends.

Beginners are welcome, with specially designed courses, and the classes are open to all ages, shapes and sizes.

Deborah added: "You don't need to be 25, supple, a size six and eat lentils to benefit from yoga.

"It suits any body shape or life stage, kids, teens, pregnancy, middle and advanced years. Whether you're a complete beginner, or you've just got off the sofa and are hoping to lose weight, or maybe you're a seasoned yogi, we offer classes that will help you to keep in shape, feel good about yourself, relax and feel healthier."

Classes run throughout the day and evening, with drinks, wi-fi access and space to relax.

For more information see www.whitespacestudio.co.uk, or call 01906 566610.

Disney's Giving Tree to cheer hospice kids

THE Disney Store is inviting guests to sponsor a toy to donate to charity.

The toys can be sponsored for five pounds from the store's Magical Giving Tree, which will then be donated to a child from Keech Hospice Care.

Each sponsor of the toys will receive a unique Christmas card featuring a Mickey Mouse keepsake pin.

Teresa Tideman, joint managing director of Disney Store Europe said: "We're thrilled that thousands of children benefited from the Disney Store Magical Giving Tree appeal last year in the UK.

"Seeing the looks on the children's faces as they received their present was truly magical.

"We're encouraging everyone in Milton Keynes to share that magic with their local community and help us provide that same festive cheer to a further 250 children from Keech Hospice Care."

Jacqui Shepherd, director of fundraising for Keech Hospice Care said: "We're delighted that, for the second year running, Disney Store is working with us to provide our children with a much needed treat this Christmas. Thank you to all the Disney Store Milton Keynes guests who support this worthwhile appeal."

Once the 250 toys on offer have been sponsored, they will all be handed over to the children.

Five pounds will sponsor a toy on Disney's Magical Giving Tree. When they are all sponsored they will be given to the children at Keech Hospice Care

MK BUSINESS

Bank staff spend time helping in community

SINCE the beginning of the year Santander staff in the city have spent over 200 hours renovating and revitalising their local community as part of the Santander 'Community Days' programme.

The nationwide programme enables staff to take time out of their working week to give back to the communities in which they live and work.

More than 360 MK employees have volunteered their time across 28 individual projects, from painting and decorating a local gymnasium club, to helping re-design the outdoor play area of a pre-school.

Sheralee Morris, Santander community relations manager said: "This is the third year of the Community Days programme and the response has been fantastic. We have received some great feedback from the charities we've worked with this year and it has been a fabulous opportunity for our staff to try something different

"Together with the efforts of the staff in Milton Keynes, Santander employees based in our nine head offices across the UK will volunteer more than 7,500 hours during 2010."

Santander staff from Milton Keynes help to brighten up York House Centre

Activities included nine Santander staff spending the day redecorating the main hall of the York House Centre in Milton Keynes, allowing local residents to continue to enjoy the many coffee mornings, fundraising events and workshops that are held there.

New jobs as pizza co moves into town

PAPA John's is creating 15 jobs by opening a store in Newport Pagnell in a £250,000 investment.

The pizza company, which is the third largest in the world, is due to open the outlet on the High Street in mid November, and wants to recruit local people as delivery drivers, pizzaiolos and store assistants.

Papa John's UK has won the Pizza, Pasta and Italian Food Association's Pizza Delivery Chain of the Year Award in four of the last six years, and has more than 140 stores. Franchise Owner, Siddique Bokhari, is confident that Papa John's award winning pizzas will prove to be a big success with the people of Newport Pagnell.

Siddique said: "I'm delighted that we have managed to secure premises on the High Street. Papa John's is famous for its 'better ingredients, better pizza' philosophy, and I'm sure our customers will be able to taste the difference when they try our 100 per cent fresh dough pizzas. We're looking forward to recruiting local people and will provide full training, so no previous experience in the food industry is necessary. Anyone interested should come along to the store to pick up an application form."

Across the world Papa John's has over 3,400 stores in 29 countries.

Ad agency sets up specialist schools division

ESTABLISHED local agency Walters Snowdon Advertising Ltd has announced the launch of a new schools and educational division to its business.

Textbook Creative is an independent division of WS Advertising Ltd, a leading recruitment advertising agency that has been based in Milton Keynes for more than five years, and despite the recent economic difficulties has seen its activity grow each year.

With a bank of clients including many household names, WS Advertising has been working toward the launch of the 'specialist' division for some time.

Director Jane Hayward said: "It just seemed natural to get involved further with our schools and educational clients. Over time we have been offering more and more advice, not just producing adverts.

"We now produce and develop websites for some of our schools, we advise on exhibition involvement, design and arrange print for prospectuses.

"We understand schools are now more brand led than ever, cost management is critical and many schools are delighted to take advantage of our creative design services.

"We are a friendly innovative team of local designers and media specialists collectively providing a complete range of services for educational establishments. From start to finish we ensure every stage of a project is overseen and coordinated by one of our experienced account managers.

"Our wealth of knowledge and experience of the education sector enables us to understand what is needed.

"We have added two new services to our Textbook Creative website. Schools and colleges can now provide us with their news and we will place this on our website where it will be in the company of editorial supplied by organisations such as TES.

"Also, we are developing an area on the site for jobs in education."

right place – right time?

Choosing the right place to study can be as big a challenge as any.

OK, there are no exam papers to struggle with and no time limit on completing your written answers but this is your future that's in the balance and, just as with choosing your degree subject or future career, it all comes down to what you feel comfortable with. So it's important to get it right.

Some people don't get the choice; they get one offer and accept it and fingers crossed, it will turn out alright on the night. But if you're lucky enough to be able to choose where you go, consider your options carefully - you'll be spending at least two or three years of your life there. Of course, what's important to you may not be important to the next person.

You may be particularly concerned about the quality and reputation of the college or the facilities it has to offer.

Location will be important for others; is it in a city or rural location? Is it near your friends and family? Is it an expensive place to live? Course availability is another factor for many and may well narrow down your options. Though some UK universities are better known than others, both in the UK and overseas, the most important consideration is what is best for you.

Be cautious about newspaper rankings of institutions; the information newspapers use is usually very selective and, as a result, only tells part of the story. Remember, there can never be a definitive 'best of' list, whether for universities, music or cars.

We're all different and so are they. Vive la difference!

Teaching and learning is "Outstanding" (OFSTED) and we are committed to providing and educational experience in years 12 and 13 that develops the whole person in preparation for leading a successful and fulfilled life beyond school.

We encourage all students to do the best that is possible. The overwhelming majority of our students go on to secure places at the university of their choice. And, whilst we are delighted to have students at Oxford or Cambridge, all students are valued, whatever their destination. Careers and Higher Education advice is always freely available.

Providing for success in the post-16 curriculum

We offer an extensive range of courses and pathways for learning post-16. In addition to academic AS and A2 courses, we also offer Applied vocational AS and A2 and BTEC National Qualifications, therefore providing for a range of learner needs. It is possible to combine academic and vocational courses. The entry requirement for these routes is a minimum of five GCSEs at Grade C or above. Most students will take four chosen subjects in year 12 but their learning will be enhanced by following a range of other courses that include, General Studies, Critical Thinking, General RE and the Extended project.

We also offer a route into year 12 for those students who do not meet the 5 C Grade requirement through the First Diploma in Business. Many students complete this course and then progress to the advanced courses.

Programmes of study post-16 are enriched at St Paul's through a range of opportunities. Students are able to use their talents by providing service to the school community through participation in the school council, supporting in lower school lessons, assisting in the paired reading scheme or by taking part in language of sports leaders' programmes. The curriculum experience is further enriched through trips to Universities, the theatre, lectures, retreats, residential trips. Field study weeks and there is a whole programme of visiting speakers introducing young people to areas of interest and concern that will affect them in their journey into adulthood.

There are also opportunities for more organised relaxation through a timetabled leisure programme students. Many students take advantage of Duke of Edinburgh activities and the World Challenge Programme.

Making the decision to continue education at St Pauls' post-16 could be the best decision a young person makes.

Returning to learning

School days - 'the happiest days of your life?' Sadly, not for everyone.

But if you slipped through the education net first time round there's another chance for you to gain skills and qualifications that can help open up new options for work and further study or just make everyday things - such as helping your child with their homework - easier.

Improving your reading, writing and number skills can give you confidence you never knew you had. There's a wide range of courses you can take to help boost your skills. Some of these can lead to a qualification.
You'll be able to learn in your local area, and in a way that suits your lifestyle: part time, full time, during the day or in the evening. And you'll be with other like-minded adults. It's not at all like being at school.

If you are not sure whether you can commit to a full course it's worth checking if your local learning provider runs 'taster' courses.

These are short courses which let you practise your reading, writing and number skills, and give you an idea what a longer course would be like. BBC RaW (Reading and Writing) can help you boost your skills through online activities such as games, quizzes and tests. You can also find out about your nearest RaW centre - this could be your local library or learning centre. You can get help with RaW online, take part in activities and share your experiences with others.
Some employers are keen for their staff to develop new skills. If you are in work it is possible that you may be eligible for free training relevant to your job - for example through an apprenticeship, the Train to Gain scheme or the learndirect Learning through Work Scheme.
If you're looking to get back into work, you may be able to take part in the New Deal or other programmes for unemployed people.
If you want an informal and confidential chat about improving your skills, call the government funded Get On helpline on: 0800 66 0800 Lines are open from 8.00 am to 10.00 pm, seven days a week.

Exams are over - so it's back to the future

PHEW! The news may have been good or it may not have been what you'd hoped for but for now at least, exams are over, the results are out and the future beckons.

Your future. And whatever grades you have achieved, there's a world out there waiting for you to make your mark on it.
If you are lucky enough to have a college or university place assured you'll have plenty to occupy your time sorting out your finances, where you are going to live and what you'll need to take with you.

On the other hand, if your results didn't match up to expectations and your original offer has been withdrawn that is where the Clearing system comes in very useful (www.ucas.com). As long as you are flexible and your exam results are reasonable, there is still a good chance you will find another course.

Apprenticeships, once the most popular route into a trade or career for school leavers, are making a comeback. In the 21st century these government-backed training schemes provide a structured learning route within a working environment.

Apprenticeships are a great way for motivated people aged 16+ to 'earn as they learn' and for employers to identify skilled and talented employees.

> Even if you're in full-time work, it's worth checking to see if you can take time off for study and training.

If you need time to think then a gap year will give you the chance to earn some money, broaden your experience of life and make you more attractive to a university than a simple set of A level grades.

Just remember that everyone's career path is unique; give yourself the time and space to make the right choice now and you won't regret it in 20 years time.

SIMON DARNELL

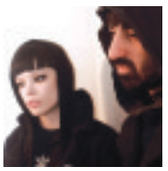
PROMISE THIS
Cheryl Cole

I USUALLY steer clear of reviewing songs before they've been finished, but it would appear that this actually is the finished version.
Mind you, if it is, it's a heck of a mess. The biggest problem really lies with the beat; there's not much bass in the song, so it sounds like the beat was beefed up in order to over-compensate.
That's not to say that the minimal bass is the only issue, oh hell no. There's also the chant that's sung in French which appears throughout the song for no apparent reason other than it scans better in French than it would in English. If you ask me, there's no reason whatsoever for the chant to be there. Actually, let's be honest here, the whole song's a bit of a dog's dinner.
There are hints of something good trying to get out here and there (for one thing the chorus actually has something approaching a melody), but generally speaking Promise This has been overcomplicated, overthought and somehow it still sounds halfway between a demo and the finished article.
It takes a special talent to achieve that, believe you me.

NOT IN LOVE
Crystal Castles and Robert Smith



NOW, what normally happens is that when a band hires a guest singer the resulting song ends up as something of a duet.
The thing is, I'm not sure the phrase 'what normally happens is...' exists in the world of Crystal Castles.
They do whatever the hell they like, record it, release it and if other people like it then that's a bonus. In other words, they do exactly what every band should do.
Take this song for example – Robert Smith isn't just a guest, he's the star, with Alice Glass relegating herself to the position of back-up singer.
As for the tune, well, it's been tweaked significantly from the album version... which is one way of saying 'during the chorus, the keyboard sounds as though it's screaming in terror', I suppose.
Although both Not In Love and Promise This both have a 'nearly finished' feel about them, I reckon there's bags more heart and soul in this song than in Cheryl Cole's outing.
The dance moves are probably rubbish, but nobody with any sense makes a pop song purely for choreography reasons, do they?

The publisher also declines responsibility for the omission of a single advertisement or one or more of a series of advertisements from any cause whatsoever, nor do they accept liability for any loss or damage caused by an error or inaccuracy in the printing of an advertisement. (Advertisers are advised to check their advertisement after the insertion). No re-insertions refund or adjustment will be made where an error, mis-print or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement. The Publisher may at its sole discretion re-insert the whole or part of the advertisement with corrections or refund part or the whole value of the advertisement.
2. The publisher reserves the right to decline any advertisement without giving an explanation or which they deem the content unsuitable for publication, whether an order has been accepted or not. 3. An order for advertising services placed by an advertiser or an advertising agency on behalf of an advertiser constitutes an assurance that necessary authorisation or permission has been granted in respect of the use of the advertisement itself, pictorial representation of a living person, references made and words attributed to a living person and text which may be the subject of copyright protection.
4. Printed conditions on advertisement orders will not be recognised as binding unless expressly accepted in writing by the publishers.

Where artwork services are provided, it is on the understanding that it is for the sole use in any of the LSN Media publications unless prior agreement is sought, any unauthorised reproduction will result in a charge being levied on the publisher concerned.
7. Proofs of advertisements are provided upon request but cannot be guaranteed. Where a proof is supplied, the onus is on the recipient to check that all information is correct and to provide the publisher with any necessary alterations or amendments before the expiration of the deadline. The publisher will not accept responsibility for errors in any advertisement where a proof is supplied and subsequently authorised for publication.

10. The advertiser (or his advertising agency) shall indemnify the publisher in respect of all costs, damages or any other charges as the result of legal action or the threat of legal action arising from the publisher of a single advertisement for a series of advertisements, published in accordance with copy instructions supplied to the publisher in pursuance of the advertiser or his advertising agency's order.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.
The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.
Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it†.
No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

MK Dons assistant manager JOHN GORMAN writes exclusively for MK NEWS every week

LAST week Alex Rae left the club to become Paul Ince's assistant manager at Notts County.

We understand these things happen so you've got to take that in your stride.

Obviously, we wish Alex the best.

I phoned him last Friday to wish him well because we all got on really well and we will miss him.

I think when Paul was announced as the new boss at Meadow Lane it was to be expected that he would come back for Alex.

So a lot of things happened before we went to Tranmere Rovers, but I don't think that is an excuse for what happened in the match.

The motivation was perfect before the game. Everything was in place, there was a great spirit and we thought this was the game where we'd turn around our fortunes.

The Gaffer sorted it out so we trained at Liverpool's training ground and it was great to see Kenny Dalglish again.

The score line doesn't really reflect our efforts in the game - Lewis Guy had a great effort, and Peter Leven had two great shots as well.

In fact, if it wasn't for Jennings their goalkeeper Peter Gulacsi would have been man of the match.

You can't excuse Gary's dismissal he lost his head and now we're punished by losing him for three games.

We kept plugging away and that is the one thing we can take heart from.

It was a game I expected us to win so we dropped three points against a team who, on our day, I think we're better than.

This weekend we have a little break from the league to start our FA Cup campaign . The Cup is always special and we know that is going to be a very difficult game as Stevenage are known for giant killing in the past.

I don't think the FA Cup will ever lose its magic -even at this first round there's something special about the competition because there's teams involved who have already worked so hard to get this far.

whipped in a quick cross along the six-yard box, yet Baldock arrived a split second too late to make a connection.

At the other end Gavin Williams had a neat chipped effort from 18-yards nestle in the roof of the net, but it was Dons who were next to add to the score line and deservedly so.

Leven, wearing odd boots for the majority of the game, curled in a perfect corner for Lewington, out jumping everyone else in a packed out Yeovil box, to pick out the bottom corner.

Moments later Sam Williams watched Searle block his volley, and then save a chance from Paul Huntington from the resulting corner.

Yeovil were left to lament their missed chances in the first half when Dons struck five minutes after the break.

As Nathan Jones tussled with Baldock in an attempt to prevent his charging run, the linesman signalled a foul but referee Michael Naylor played the advantage which allowed the striker to cut the ball back from the by-line.

A hesitant Yeovil defence failed to pick up Johnson whose first time shot from 12-yards had enough power to hit the back of the net despite Sullivan getting his fingertips to the ball.

Confidence then soared through the Dons as they went on the attack, which was highlighted by a speculative 40-yard lob which rattled the woodwork.

Dons then had keeper Searle to thank for keeping the Dons ahead after brilliantly tipping away a swerving Shaun MacDonald shot.

But their good work was undone by some poor defending from the Dons saw them fail to fully clear a Glovers free-kick which allowed an unmarked Virgo to tap-in, via the post, from six-yards.

Robinson's men were living life dangerously as they once again relied on a goal saving block from Searle, this time to deny Andy Williams on the counterattack.

Yeovil were a touch fortunate not to have Paul Huntington dismissed for hacking down Baldock, but minutes later Luke Chadwick fell under the challenge of MacDonald and Leven duly converted from the resulting spot kick.

KARL Robinson was left puzzled by referee Colin Webster's decisions as MK Dons crashed to their seventh straight away defeat.

The Dons boss had two main issues with the man in black – one was the soft penalty against Dietmar Hamann. He said: "The penalty was unbelievable I've seen it in normal speed, I've seen it in slow speed, I've tried to speed it up to try and give him an excuse.

"It's phenomenal."

Then there was the failure to spot a Tranmere Rovers player raise his hands to Gary MacKenzie when the big centre back was shown red.

Robinson added: "I can't condone what Gary MacKenzie's done but within the melee one of their players has blatantly punched him in the face four yards away from the referee."

And there was also the issue of Dale Jennings straying well offside before netting his second.

He added: "How can you not be interfering when the ball is actually moving in your direction and my defender has to stop it going through to you? How can you not be interfering? That's a strange one."

For the neutral the 90 minutes at Prenton Park had everything - two penalties, six goals, controversy, and two dismissals.

But for the Dons it was more like a horror show on the eve of Halloween.

Within three minutes Jennings had given Rovers the lead before Peter Leven equalised with a penalty.

That was as good as it got for Dons as Jennings tumbled in the box allowing Ian Thomas-Moore to get on the score sheet from the spot.Jennings, assisted by Enoch Showunmi who had been in an offside position when the move began, ensured Tranmere were 3-1 up at the break in controversial circumstances.

A reckless lunge by MacKenzie saw the Dons reduced to ten men in the 57th minutes, but 12 minutes later Tranmere had Zoumana Bakayogo dismissed.

There was still time for Thomas-Moore to net his second before Sam Baldock grab a late consolation for the Dons.

STEVENAGE
FA Cup First Round Proper
Saturday, November 6

STEVENAGE'S first season in the Football League has been an enjoyable one so far for players and fans alike.

The Boro have only lost one of their seven games at home in the league, although they have only won two as they have been held to draws on four occasions.

Last season the Dons enjoyed their most successful FA Cup run to date - reaching the third round where they were knocked out at home to then-Premier League boys Burnley.

Emulating that success will be a tough ask for Karl Robinson's men as they desperately look to end their run of seven straight defeats on the road.

Dons are without Gary MacKenzie who serves the second of his three match ban following his dismissal at Tranmere Rovers.

MK Lightning hit Tigers and Phantoms for six

ICE HOCKEY

THE return of Lewis Christie and Monir Kalogum coincided with a four point weekend for MK Lightning.

Lightning were on top form as they brushed aside rivals Peterborough Phantoms and Telford Tigers with two 6-2 score lines in their favour.

Nick Poole's side were firing from all cylinders as they delivered their first blow to Peterborough within the first minutes at Planet Ice as Gary Clarke opened the scoring.

Not long after Grant McPherson added the second of the match as Lightning threatened to race ahead in the game.

Yet, as discipline through the Lightning ranks slipped Phantoms were able to find their way back in to proceedings with Tom Carlon netting twice during first period power plays.

Lightning regained their lead in the second period courtesy of a strike from Adam Carr, before putting the result beyond doubt in the final 20 minutes.

Phantoms lost their way as they gift Lightning a number of penalties and Monir Kalgoum inflicted maximum damage by bagging a late hat-trick.

And the purple patch continued for Lightning as they fired six past Telford Kalgoum, Clarke (2), Matt Towalski, Nick Poole and Andre Smulter were all on target to see Lightning climb to fifth place in the English Ice Hockey Premier League table.

MK LIONS 81

A LACKLUSTRE MK Lions performance helped Plymouth Raiders climb away from the foot of the table with their first win in the British Basketball League.

The ten point defeat was Lions' first in the championship under the management of Mike New.

The two sides were evenly matched in the early phases as they traded baskets in a cagey opening, but the home team then stepped up the gears with a crucial 12-2 helping them to a 23-13 first period lead.

The hosts continued their good work into the second period and after a couple of free-throws by Cody Toppert, they had extended their advantage to 33-17 with six minutes until the half-time break.

When Lions found some rhythm they were able to close the gap to 44-34, only for a poor finish to the half to see them trail 50-34 at the half way stage.

New's side failed to rally in the third period leaving it too late to make any kind of impact.

A Brian McKenzie triple gave Gavin Love and his team a huge 21 point advantage at 60-39 and they were still in control at 68-50 heading into the last ten minutes.

Finally the Lions came alive as they cut the gap to just seven points at 76-69 with three minutes remaining, but the Raiders regained their composure to see out a crucial win.

Meanwhile, MK Lions have submitted their planning application to transform their Winterhill warehouse in to an arena and headquarters for the club.

The application includes plans for offices, a basketball court with seating, a VIP bar area, training courts and changing facilities as well as changes to the elevations to incorporate new fire escape/entrance doors.

BLETCHLEY 20 WITNEY 10

BLETCHLEY broke their home duck as they recorded their first win of the season at Manor Fields.

The home side took an early lead against Witney when Simon Pitfield made the most of a Witney mistake to scoop the loose ball and score under the post and the successful conversion from Phil Harman gave Bletchley a seven point cushion.

Harman was back on score sheet, extended Bletchley's lead to 10-0, with an impressive drop goal, but a Witney penalty helped the visitors claw back three points.

In the second half Bletchley were briefly reduced to 14 men, yet managed to add three more points to their tally courtesy of Harman's boot.

Winger Chris Martin then grabbed Bletchley's second try of the afternoon which Harman duly converted.

Witney bit back in the closing stages with a converted try of their own, but a Bletchley victory was never in doubt.

PETER Leven's penalty four minutes from time helped MK Dons come from behind to beat Yeovil Town 3-2 and maintain their unbeaten record at stadiummk.

The Scotsman showed nerves of steel to convert a late spot-kick, awarded for Shaun MacDonald's foul on Luke Chadwick, to seal three points and move the Dons up to ninth in the League One table.

Skipper Dean Lewington marked his 300th league appearance with a first-half header to cancel out the early strike of Dean Bowditch before Jemal Johnson put Dons ahead early in the second-half.

When Adam Virgo netted 15 minutes from time it appeared both side would take a point a piece, yet there was a final twist as MacDonald was penalised much to the anger of the Yeovil player.

The game started slowly and Dons - without three first team players due to sickness and with just four substitutes on the bench - were guilty of making needless errors as Sam Williams and Gavin Williams both tested Stuart Searle in the early phases.

The Glovers then dealt Dons a blow when Dean Bowditch got the better of Sean O'Hanlon, later subbed due to injury, to collect the ball inches inside the box to slot an angled right-footed shot past Searle.

There were signs of an equaliser when Stephen Gleeson's pinpoint cross was nodded goal bound by Sam Baldock only for the outstretched palm of John Sullivan to deny him.

Some wonderful build up play from midfield carved out an opportunity as the Jemal Johnson

Five in with F1 title shout

RED Bull Racing are out to make sure Ferrari's Fernando Alonso does not clinch the World Championship title at the Brazilian Grand Prix this weekend.

The race is the penultimate meeting on the Formula One calendar and with 50 points up for grabs any one of FIVE drivers could still be crowned champion.

Alonso currently leads the championship by 11 points, with Red Bull driver Mark Webber in second place while team mate Sebastian Vettel is fourth - 25 points behind the Spaniard.

Sandwiched in between the Red Bulls in third is Lewis Hamilton, meanwhile his McLaren team mate, and reigning world champion, Jenson Button has the slimmest of chances of making up the 42 points he trails Alonso by.

All five drivers are still in with a chance, but only Alonso can seal the title at the Sao Paulo track on Sunday.

The pressure is on for Red Bull not to give up the chase, but Aussie driver Webber, who won on the track last season, was able to maintain his laid back image as he looked forward to the race.

He said: "I obviously have good memories from last year, it was a nice race to win and we will clearly be trying to get another victory this year.

"It's now coming to a pivotal stage of the championship and we need to make the most of every opportunity we can."

And Vettel believes the Interlagos circuit is one that will get the best out of the Red Bull cars.

The German said: "There are a lot of positive things about the upcoming event in Brazil. The Interlagos track is a challenging one for the drivers because it's anti-clockwise which, after a season of racing on clockwise circuits, puts a strain on your neck muscles.

"The circuit requires good aero-efficiency which should suit the RB6 although the long, uphill start-finish straight will give an advantage to the more powerful engines."

The Brazilian Grand Prix takes place on Sunday at 4pm.
